THE PARISH AS ONE BODY

*"If the whole body were an eye, where would the hearing be?
If the whole body were hearing, where would the sense of smell be?
But as it is, God placed the parts, each one of them, in the body as he intended...
The eye cannot say to the hand, 'I do not need you,' nor again the head to the feet, 'I do not need you.'
Indeed, the parts of the body that seem to be weaker are all the more necessary.
Now you are Christ's body, and individually parts of it."* (1 Cor. 12:17-25)

The Seven Essential Elements of Parish Life constantly interrelate, each nurturing and supporting the other with the communal celebration of Sunday Eucharist at the center.

Jesus asked his disciples to “cross to the other side” – last week I read what follows from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. It’s a call to be missionary disciples of Jesus; people on the other side. This writing is taken from an address Archbishop Gomez gave at Georgetown University, June 2018. You can find the talk in its entirety at angelusnews.com.

“I want to begin our conversation with a brief snapshot of our experience in Los Angeles. As you know, we are the largest Catholic community in the country. We cover a territory about the size of New Jersey — we have about 5 million Catholics in an overall population of 11 million.

Our churches are filled with people who come from other nations. Every day we carry out our ministries in more than 40 languages.

Our Church is young and it is daily growing. Just to give you a sense: in Los Angeles we baptize about 60,000 infants every year. That is more than the total number of infant baptisms in Chicago and New York combined.

I tell people: if you want to see what the Church will look like in the future, you should come to Los Angeles.

But my friends, there is another side to LA, a more sobering set of statistics.

Every night in the Los Angeles area, we have 55,000 people who have no place to call home. They are sleeping on sidewalks and under bridges, in parking lots in their cars. There are “tent cities” now in many of our neighborhoods, even in the suburbs. The fastest growing category of homeless is children.

In the shadow of our Cathedral downtown, we have one of the world’s largest prisons. All told, we have about 20,000 men and women behind bars, the vast majority are black and Latino. And just down the road from the Cathedral, in a neighborhood that is almost entirely Spanish-speaking, there are nine abortion clinics within a one-mile radius. Sadly, they are busy. More abortions are performed in Los Angeles than any city except New York — and most of the women targeted are poor and minorities.

Everywhere we see signs of the breakdown of marriage and the family. We have 30,000 kids in the LA foster care system.

So, that is a snapshot of Los Angeles “by the numbers.” And of course, for those of us in the Church, every one of these “numbers” represents a soul who has been made in the image of our Creator and redeemed by the sacrifice of God’s only Son.

The point I want to make is this: The issues we deal with in Los Angeles are unique only in scale. Every day in every city across the country, Catholic communities confront these same types of injustice and insults to human dignity.

The question we all face is this: where do we start in the face of so much human misery? How do we set priorities, what criteria are we going to use? How do we change our society so there is less suffering, less injustice?

In our work in Los Angeles, we have come to see the great challenge of our times. And that is the disappearance of the human person.

We are living in a society where God no longer matters and the human person is on the verge of being forgotten too. The sense of our great dignity as children of God, the sense of God’s loving design for creation and the divine meaning of our lives — all of this is fading from the hearts and minds of this generation.

Friends, in this moment — as a Church, as Christians — we need to be united in the urgent mission of proclaiming and defending the mystery of the human person in our times. This is the central task for Catholic social teaching today. Even more, it is a challenge for our whole project of the new evangelization.

Now more than ever, we need to raise up a new generation of disciples, a new generation of saints.

This is a call to you and to me — to everyone in the Church. We need to be thinking in new ways about our identity and mission as Christians, as followers of Christ.

The Church exists to evangelize. Period. There is no other reason for the Church. We are not called to be social workers or advocates. We are called to be apostles and saints.

We are not here to provide solutions to problems in society. What we proclaim is true liberation — the pathway that leads to eternal life.

We can change the world by changing people’s hearts — by making God’s love present and leading men and women to find him and to discover their true dignity as his children.

And you and I, we are called to carry out our Christian mission in the world — person to person, heart to heart.

We have a mission in life and that mission is to live as children of God and to try to become like Jesus — to see as he sees, to feel and think as he does; to be holy as he is holy. And God is calling all of us to seek holiness, to be saints, each in our own way, in the circumstances of our ordinary life. In our homes, at work, in school and in our communities.

We become missionaries by being good neighbors. When we seek holiness, it opens our hearts to building God’s kingdom of love and justice and peace. When we seek holiness, it leads us deeper and deeper into the lives of our brothers and sisters — their joys and hopes, their miseries and misfortune.”

Quite direct and rather sobering.

JOHN THE BAPTIST

It's midsummer day! Since June 24 falls on a Sunday this year, we have the advantage of celebrating one of the great hidden treasures of our liturgical calendar – the birth of John the Baptist. There are only three “nativity” feasts on our calendar: 1.) the Lord; 2.) the Blessed Mother (Sept 8), and 3.) today's birth of John the Baptist. Today's date is anchored by the Annunciation (March 25), when Mary learns not only of her own child's advent, but of Elizabeth's child. We are exactly half a year away from Christmas Eve. There are strong traditions around this feast. Just as the winter solstice provides a rich vocabulary for Christmas, so does the abundance of light at midsummer inform this celebration. Just as at Christmas, a religious festival spills over into culture. As summer light reaches its peak, the sun-drenched zones of northern Europe see people staying up all night, lighting “St. John's fires” in the long summer twilight. Bonfires seem to be the unifying force in all these celebrations, kindled along the shores of the St. Lawrence in Quebec and Montreal, with harbor illuminations in France. You may be most interested in the custom in San Juan, Puerto Rico, the Baptist's own city. People there will leap into the sea between midnight and dawn to honor John. Why not find your way to a pool, a lake, or a sandy beach today and plunge in to recall your baptism? It's a tradition!

“PENNIES FROM HEAVEN”

START SAVING YOUR COINS NOW FOR THE ANNUAL PENNIES FROM HEAVEN COLLECTION IN AUGUST.

St. Juliana will again this year support the Diocesan Baby Bottle PENNIES FROM HEAVEN collection.

The campaign starts on August 11 & 12 when we hand-out baby bottles after all Masses.

The bottles will be returned two weeks later on August 25 & 26 with your donation of coins, paper money or checks. Please make your checks payable to ("Respect Life St. Juliana").

All of the proceeds go to fund the annual operational costs of the 12 facilities in Orange County that provide free services for pregnant women in need and their babies. The three shelters, (Casa Teresa, Mary's Shelter— featured below, and the Precious Life Shelter), the five Obria full-service women's medical clinics, the two Life Centers (Santa Ana and La Habra), the Horizon Pregnancy Clinic in Huntington Beach and the Vietnamese Hot Line.

Contact information for all the services are on a poster in the vestibule.)

MARY'S SHELTER serves girls under 18 years of age with shelter for mother & child and has programs designed to help the girls develop maturity, responsibility, and self-esteem, and also to develop skills and set future goals. Mary's Shelter is now also taking in girls who have been rescued from Human Trafficking and have many more serious issues to be dealt with as they recover.
